MORMON CHURCH 'TREASONABLE BODY'

It Is Thus Described by Mrs. Fred Dubois at Mission Study Class.

The Mormon Church was declared to be a "treasonable institution" and a constantly growing menace to the United States by Mrs. Fred Dubois, wife of former Senator Dubois of Idaho, before a meeting of the Woman's Interdenominational Mission Study Class held yesterday afternoon in the Public Library.

Mrs. Dubois spoke strongly against the practice of the church bringing young girl converts to the United States from abroad to be married off here.

She also touched on the attempt to unseat Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, and spent some time explaining away the erroneous impression that the attempt was made because of Mr. Smoot having polygamous wives. She said that the only claim made was that the Utah Senator was unfit to sit in the councils of the nation because as a member of the church he was obliged to take an oath that is treasonous to the United States. This oath, she said, was a part of the endorsement ceremony that every Mormon has to go through.

The part the church plays in the commerce and politics of this country formed the basis of her address. She said that the Smoot inquiry had developed the fact that the church and the "trusts" had contracts whereby the church controls the sale of all the finest agricultural implements and many other products.

The balance of power, politically, is held by the church in Utah, Idaho, and Arizona, and it exercises a tremendous influence in Colorado, Wyoming, and even Oregon and Washington, according to Mrs. Dubois, and is able to dictate to a large degree in the politics of those States.

SEVERAL SMALL FIRES.

Firemen Respond to Calls but Have Little Work.

The Fire Department was kept busy late yesterday afternoon by several petty fires that brought out the apparatus, but did little damage. The first call was to Michigan Avenue Northeast, near Queen's Chapel Road, where an automobile, owned and operated by W. O. Beasley, of 43 R Street Northwest, was burning. The damage was $150.

About 5 o'clock Box No. 24 was pulled for a fire in some small buildings in the rear of 234 and 236 Corcoran Street Northwest, thought to have been caused by boys playing with matches. The buildings were occupied respectively by Perry Cleveland, white, and Kate McNeal, colored. The damage was $100.

Damage of about $50 was caused by a fire at 40 N Street Northwest, occupied by Thomas Brown. The furniture suffered most, the fire being subdued before the building was badly injured.

An overturned furnace was said to be the cause of the damage. A defective flue called out the department and caused $50 worth of injury to the building at 308 M Street Northwest, occupied by A. W. and L. O. Mallory.

Men's Suits and Overcoats

— AT — $15 - $18 - $20

WHAT constitutes a bargain? Not necessarily a reduction in price. More necessarily a standard of quality at less than the recognized equivalent in price. In that view of it these Suits and Overcoats are strictly bargains—because nowhere else, under no conditions, can you match the values that are offered in either grade. They are not reduced—they were made to sell at just what they are marked. But we made them—and they are underpriced because our facilities minimized the cost.

They demonstrate very pointedly how false any value estimate is—with price as the gauge. They are tremendous big grades, too—immensely popular—as justly they should be. Every pattern—every model—every feature of the making emphasizes their intrinsic and artistic worth. The more critical the comparison—the more conspicuous their superiority.

SUITS—In both the extreme and conservative models—Sacks and Norfolk—plain weaves and fancy effects.

OVERCOATS—Belted backs and straight backs—Single Breasted and Double Breasted—Chinchilla, Fancy Weaves, and Conservative Coats in Conservative Cloths.
